Natural avalanche on East Henderson

Date Wed, 02/07/2024 - 17:40 Activity Skiing

Natural avalanche on East Side of Henderson Mtn. seen late on 2/7/24. South of the two that Doug saw last week, along the ridge. Could have happened yesterday or last night. I didn't see it yesterday when riding up and down Fisher creek, but visibility was mediocre. The debris and bed had at least some new snow on it.

Also had a large rumbling collapse near 10,000' west facing when following one skiers old skin track. And had a few large collapses on south facing slopes between 8,000-9000'.

Region Cooke City Location (from list) Henderson Mountain Observer Name Alex Marienthal