

While looking for a recent avalanche from the flat bench above we triggered a similar sized slide directly adjacent to the previous slide. They broke on weak layers of facets and surface hoar that formed at the end of January. 2-3 feet deep and 150-200' wide. Observing the snowpack that caused the avalanche. Photo: GNFAAC

Advisory Region
Cooke City
Longitude
-110.00W

Latitude

45.08N

Avalanche Details: Remote triggered persistent slab east of Mt. Abundance

Cooke City, 2025-02-24